Audit qualifications

There are no qualifications in the audit reports pertaining to the Issuer's annual financial statements for the years ended 2017 and 2018.

What are the key risks that are specific to the issuer?

Liquidity risk and need for additional funding

The Issuer's business is to great extent dependent on funding its activities with external capital. The Issuer cannot guarantee that it will be able to obtain the necessary financing required to meet maturing debt liabilities in general, and in particular to meet its debt liabilities maturing in March 2020, in order to fund its current operations in the future on favourable terms or at all.

Risks relating to RCF creditors

Under the terms of the Bond issue the Issuer is permitted to incur one or more revolving credit facilities, subject to a cap of SEK 25,000,000, which rank senior in priority to the Bonds. Such senior creditors may have conflicting interests with the bondholders in a default and enforcement scenario.

Acquisition risks

The Group evaluates and considers potential acquisition opportunities in the ordinary course of business and as a part of its growth strategy, including those that could be material in size and scope. Acquisitions involve a number of specific risks, including (i) the diversion of management's attention and resources, (ii) the incorporation of acquired products into the existing product and service offering of the Group, (iii) problems associated with maintaining relationships with employees and customers, (iv) the increasing demands on the Group's operational systems, (v) ability to integrate and implement effective control mechanisms, (vi) possible adverse effects on the Group's reported operating results; and (vii) the loss of key employees and the difficulty of presenting a unified corporate image.

Reputational risk

The Issuer's commercial success is dependent on its reputation among its current and potential customers as well as owners. Unfavourable reputation could impact on the Issuer's financial performance and affect its future cash flows. A negative perception of gambling portrayed by some governments and media could impact the Group's ability to do business as that local gambling market thereby would be affected negatively.

Risks related to licences

A significant part of the Issuer's revenue is derived from licensed and regulated online gambling activities. Maintaining the licences and/or obtaining additional licences from Malta or other licensing authorities are considered essential to ensure continuity of the Issuer's operations.

Currency fluctuations

The Issuer's revenues are deriving from several currencies, the largest being EUR, GBP, SEK, NOK, DKK, NZD, and USD. Operating expenses are mainly split between EUR, DKK, NOK and USD. Exchange rates affecting the Issuer are mainly fluctuations in the DKK and NOK rate against EUR and the USD / EUR rate. In addition, fluctuations in the SEK rate / EUR rate will impact the bond which is denominated in SEK. Should a significant fluctuation occur, the absence of any hedging could result in significantly lower revenues from an entity with an impacted currency.

Risks related to the regulation of the gambling industry

The regulation of online gambling may be subject to changes which could impact the Issuer's financial performance and could be split between (i) regulatory risks due to changing legislation and (ii) risks associated with more stringent regulatory conditions dealing with the prevention of money laundering, responsible gambling, marketing and social responsibility.

Intellectual Property Rights (IPR)

The Issuer holds copyright and other intellectual property rights for software, its websites, webpages and related components. A failure to protect the Issuer's intellectual property rights could weaken its competitive position and result in a negative impact on its financial performance.

Risks related to IT systems

The Issuer is exposed to certain risks attributable to the Issuer's IT-systems that are central to the business activities and the operation of the Issuer's proprietary technical platform.

What are the main features of the securities?

Such request shall be directed to the Bond Trustee and considered at a Bondholders' Meeting or by way of Written Procedure, as determined by the Bond Trustee.

According to the Bond Terms, no individual Bondholder or group of Bondholders may take action against the Issuer to enforce or recover any amount due or owing to it pursuant to the Finance Documents, or initiate, support or procure the winding-up, dissolution, liquidation, company reorganisation or bankruptcy (or its equivalent in any other jurisdiction) of the Issuer in relation to any of the obligations and liabilities of the Issuer under the Finance Documents. The guarantees are joint and several unconditional and irrevocable Norwegian law guarantees (No. selvskyldnerkausjon) from each of the Guarantors, which shall constitute senior obligations of the Guarantors.

Set out below is a brief description of the most material risk factors pertaining to the guarantors and the transaction security provided by them.

Risks relating to the enforcement of the transaction security and value of collateral

Although the Bonds are secured obligations of the Issuer, there can be no assurance that the value of the assets securing the Bonds and the Issuer's other assets will be sufficient to cover all of the outstanding Bonds if the subsidiaries whose shares are pledged in favour of the Bondholders are subject to any foreclosure, dissolution, winding-up, liquidation, recapitalization, administrative or other bankruptcy or insolvency proceedings. There is a significant risk that the shares in such subsidiaries will have limited value because of all subsidiaries' obligations must first be satisfied, potentially leaving little or no remaining assets in the subsidiary for the bondholders.

Applicable law and/or contracts may limit the amount each Guarantor may cover

On the date of this Prospectus, applicable law related to financial assistance in the United States of America and the Republic of Malta may limit the amounts that the Guarantors will be able to provide in order to meet their obligations towards the bondholders (represented by the Agent) under the Guarantee Agreement and the Guarantors may therefore not be able to guarantee the full amount outstanding under the terms of the Bonds.

What are the key risks that are specific to the securities?

Risks related to the Issuer's dependency on its subsidiaries to make payments under the Bonds and refinancing risk

The ability of the Issuer to obtain refinancing is dependent on its financial position and the conditions in the debt and equity capital markets at the time such refinancing is required or desirable. In the event the Issuer is unable to refinance the Bonds, its outstanding bonds maturing in March 2020 in particular or other outstanding debt on favourable terms, this could have a significant adverse effect on the Issuer's ability to repay the principal of the Bonds at maturity or upon an early redemption.

The Bonds are structurally subordinated to liabilities of the Issuer's subsidiaries

In the event of insolvency, liquidation or a similar event relating to one of the Issuer's subsidiaries, all creditors of such subsidiary will be entitled to payment in full out of the assets of such company before the Issuer which, in its capacity as a shareholder, will be entitled to payments after such creditors. The Issuer and its assets will not be protected from any actions by the creditors of a subsidiary. As a result, there is a highly significant risk that the Issuer will not receive any payment from the relevant subsidiary.

Admission to trading on a regulated market

Why is this prospectus being produced?

This Prospectus has been prepared to enable the Initial Bonds to be admitted to trading on the corporate bond list at Nasdaq Stockholm (or another Regulated market) in accordance with the Bond Terms.

Use and estimated net amount of proceeds

The estimated net amount of proceeds from the issue of the Initial Bonds is SEK 400,000,000 less customary transaction costs and fees. The Net Proceeds of the Initial Bond Issue has been applied towards (i) repayment or repurchase of bonds under the Existing Bond including any premium, interest or related expenses, (ii) repayment of the Parent Working Capital Facilities (in full or in part) and (iii) general corporate purposes, including acquisitions, for any surplus (if any).

Material conflicts

ABG Sundal Collier ASA and Pareto Securities AB were the managers in conjunction with the issuance of the Initial Bonds. DNB Bank ASA is acting as paying agent in accordance with the Bond Terms. The managers and the paying agent and their affiliates have engaged in, and may in the future engage in, certain investment banking and/or commercial banking and other services to the Issuer, the Guarantors and the Group for which they have received, or will receive, remuneration. Accordingly, conflicts of interest may exist or may arise as a result of the managers and the paying agent having previously engaged, or in the future engaging, in transactions with other parties, having multiple roles or carrying out other transactions for third parties.

RISK FACTORS

In this section, a number of risk factors are set out, both risks pertaining to the Issuer's and its subsidiaries' (the "Group") economic and market risks, business risks, legal and regulatory risks, and structural risks relating to the Bonds and risks related to securities such as the Bonds. The assessment of the materiality of each risk factor is based on the probability of their occurrence and the expected magnitude of their negative impact is disclosed by rating the probability of occurrence (low, medium, high) and the expected magnitude of their impact (low, medium, high).

The first risk factor, set out under each category, is the risk factor considered to be the most material one according to the Issuer; the remaining risk factors, if any, set out under each category are not ranked in order of importance. Where a risk factor may be categorised in more than one category, such risk factor appears only once and in the most relevant category for such risk factor.

Risks related to the Group's financial situation

Liquidity risk and need for additional funding

The Issuer's business is to great extent dependent on funding its activities with external capital. The Issuer cannot guarantee availability of cash flow from operations in order to meet its debt service requirements, that the market conditions will allow for the Issuer to obtain the necessary financing required to meet maturing debt liabilities in general, and in particular in respect of the Issuer's existing bond maturing in March 2020, in order to fund its current operations in the future on favourable terms or at all. Should such financing be available only on unfavourable terms, this may result in lower profit margins and lead to a negative effect on the Issuer's ability to meet its payment obligations under the terms of the Bonds or, in case new financing is unavailable to meet maturing debt liabilities, a default.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risks materialising wholly or partially to be high. If the above risks were to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be high.

Credit risk

The Issuer is exposed to the risk that a counterparty in a transaction will be unable to fulfil its contractual financial obligations, resulting in a loss for the Group and/or the Parent. The Group's income is based on advance payment by customers, however there is always a risk that customers will not have the financial ability to meet their obligations, and there can be no assurances that losses will not occur in the future and impact the Issuer's earnings and cash balance. Further, the Group regularly engages in betting activities and is, as part of its business model, exposed to credit risk due to the possibility of an unfavourable outcome on events on which the Group has accepted bets from its customers. In the event that the Group's customers are unable to meet their financial obligations or should the Group engage in betting activities with unfavourable outcomes, this would result in a negative effect on the Group's revenues and profit margins, which in turn could affect the Issuer's ability to meet its payment obligations under the terms of the Bonds.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risk materialising wholly or partially to be low. If the above risk was to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be low.

Risks relating to RCF creditors

Under the terms of the Bond the Issuer is permitted to incur one or more revolving credit facilities, subject to a cap of SEK 25,000,000 in total aggregate principal amount, any such RCF will rank senior in priority to the Bonds. The intercreditor agreement contains certain provisions regulating instruction rights over the security agent, including instructions as to enforcement. Upon certain conditions being met, such instruction right may be held entirely by a defined majority of such senior creditors (whose claims will rank senior to the Bonds with respect to enforcement proceeds). Such senior creditors may have conflicting interests with the bondholders in a default and enforcement scenario, including an incentive to take enforcement steps which may be detrimental to the value of the Bonds. In general, and in these situations in particular, there can be no assurance that any enforcement proceeds will be sufficient to cover the claims of such creditors ranking senior to the Bonds and subsequently the claims under and in relation to the Bonds.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risks materialising wholly or partially to be low. If the above risks were to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be low.

Net operating loss carry-forward

As at 31 December 2018, the Issuer had approximately EUR 42,559,000 of net operating loss carry-forwards from its previous operations in the U.S. as well as 2018 adjusted for exchange fluctuations. The availability to offset losses against income taxes in future years in the U.S. was restricted because the Issuer underwent an ownership change. For the periods ended 31 December 2018, 2017 and 2016 the Issuer incurred taxable losses for U.S. domestic income tax purposes and, as such, had no related U.S. federal or state income tax expense. Accordingly, given the inability to offset losses in future, the financial results of the Group may vary significantly from previous years' financial results which may negatively impact the financial condition of the Group and the Issuer's ability to perform its payment obligations under the terms of the Bonds.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risk materialising wholly or partially to be low. If the above risk was to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be low.

Risks related to the Issuer's business activities and industry

Acquisition risks

The Group evaluates and considers potential acquisition opportunities in the ordinary course of business and as a part of its growth strategy, including those that could be material in size and scope. Acquisitions involve a number of specific risks, including (i) the diversion of management's attention and resources, (ii) the incorporation of acquired products into the existing product and service offering of the Group, (iii) problems associated with maintaining relationships with employees and customers, (iv) the increasing demands on the Group's operational systems, (v) ability to integrate and implement effective control mechanisms, (vi) possible adverse effects on the Group's reported operating results; and (vii) the loss of key employees and the difficulty of presenting a unified corporate image. In addition, even if the Issuer finds suitable investment targets, it may fail to successfully acquire such businesses on acceptable terms or at all.

Until the Group assumes operating control of acquired businesses, it may not be able to ascertain the actual value or understand the potential liabilities of the acquired entities and their operations. Furthermore, it may not realize all cost savings and synergies the Group expects to achieve from individual acquisitions.

Although the Group conducts what it believes to be a prudent level of investigation regarding potential acquisitions, the Group may become responsible for unexpected liabilities that it failed, or was unable to discover in the course of performing due diligence in connection with historical acquisitions and any future acquisitions. The Group has therefore typically required the divesting parties of such businesses to indemnify it against certain undisclosed liabilities. However, the Group cannot assure that any current or future indemnification rights will be enforceable, collectible or sufficient in amount, scope or duration to fully offset the possible liabilities associated with the business or property acquired. In addition, the Group may not be able to successfully integrate future acquisitions without substantial costs, delays or other problems.

The impact of failed acquisitions or inability to acquire new business or not being able to enforce indemnification rights upon the Issuer's financial condition, increases significantly the greater the investments were to be. However, the likelihood of a major investment failing completely in most, or all aspects, is considered less likely. However, should such failure occur it would have a detrimental effect on the Group's business going forward and significantly impact the value of its assets, its growth rate, ability to generate revenue as projected and its future profit margins.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risks materialising wholly or partially to be low. If the above risks were to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be medium.

Reputational risk

The Issuer's commercial success is dependent on its reputation among its current and potential customers as well as owners. Unfavourable reputation could impact the Issuer's financial performance and affect its future cash flows.

A negative perception of gambling portrayed by some governments and media could impact the overall iGaming market and thus the Group's ability to do business. This normally translates into complex onboarding procedures for the Group's customers. Complex onboarding procedures may result in a reduced number of new customers, which could lead to lower revenues, reduced growth and lower profit margins for the Issuer. In addition, this could translate into higher operational costs in order to cover due diligence costs of the Group's suppliers which may have a negative impact on the Group's ability to procure and retain suppliers, which are material to the operations of the Group

The iGaming market is a much debated industry and there is a risk that negative media attention for example claim that the provision of iGaming leads to gambling problems or is unlawful or immoral and could harm the Issuer's business and reputation. This could result in, for example, negative consequences such as lower confidence or damaged reputation with customers and partners and ultimately affect the growth prospects of the Issuer and the Group.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risk materialising wholly or partially to be medium. If the above risk was to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be medium.

Third party risk

The Group is to a large extent dependent on suppliers, including, inter alia in relation to online games, payment processing, telecommunications, advertising, customer relationship management technology and banking. In addition, since the Group introduced its proprietary sports betting offering, it is also dependent on third party providers of odds and betting related services. The willingness of such providers to provide services to the Group may be affected by each provider's own assessment of the legality of the provision of services by the Group, of its business, or of the online gambling sector, and by political or other pressure impacting such providers. If one or more of these external parties do not meet their undertakings towards the Group or, if third party suppliers are unwilling or unable to provide services to the Group, it could affect the Group's online operations and/or its gambling platforms, which may cause harm to the Group's brand, market reputation, result in losses of income and/or impact long-term customer loyalty. In addition, if the odds provided by third party providers are materially deficient this could lead to sufficient losses, with little or no recourse to such providers.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risk materialising wholly or partially to be medium. If the above risk was to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be medium.

Risks related to licences

A significant part of the Issuer's revenue is derived from licensed and regulated online gambling activities. Maintaining the licences and/or obtaining additional licences from Malta or other licensing authorities are considered essential to ensure continuity of the Issuer's operations. The Issuer's subsidiaries MT SecureTrade Limited, BetIt Operations Limited, iGamingCloud Limited and iGaming Cloud Inc have various licences granted by the Malta Gaming Authority, the United Kingdom Gambling Commission, Spelinspektionen, Dirección General de Ordenación del Juego, the Romanian National Gambling Office and the New Jersey Division of Gaming Enforcement.

The Issuer's revenue mainly derives from markets within the European Union (EU) and the European Free Trade Association (EFTA), where domestic regulations are subject to the overriding laws and principles such as free movement of services. Users residing outside Malta are generally free to use the Issuer's services, although some may reside in countries not recognising the Issuer's licences.

An increasing number of countries have started issuing local gambling licences which gambling companies are required to hold in order to operate or to market their services in those countries. Such development may open new market opportunities, however, it could also increase costs by fragmenting the international gaming market into national markets with a multitude of different requirements relating to aspects such as products, technology and reporting to authorities. This would be likely to lead to significant additional costs and accordingly lower profit margins for the Group's operations.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risks materialising wholly or partially to be medium. If the above risks were to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be medium.

Competition

The Issuer faces competition from a number of existing competitors active in iGaming and performance marketing markets providing similar technological solutions such as Playtech, Scientific Games Corporation, Aspire Global Plc, Catena Media plc and Kambi Group plc, as well as potential new competitors, which could result in loss of market share and diminished profits for its operations. The Group's main markets are characterised by technological advances, changes in customer requirements and frequent new product introductions and improvements. The Group's future success will depend mainly on its ability to enhance its current technology offerings, its range of products, to maintain relations with existing and new technology and marketing providers, iGaming operators and affiliate businesses, as well as a positive cash flow. Any failure to keep up with competing operators in the iGaming markets may result in loss of market share, cash flows and as a consequence, revenues. Furthermore, there is increased risk of competition when entering newly regulated markets due to the fact that when doing so the Group is generally acting in competition with incumbent operators. State-owned monopolies normally exclude themselves from online operations pre-regulation. Following new regulations, these household brands in local markets, are able to participate online and may acquire a substantial part of the online market share. These factors are likely to put pressure on pricing and therefore reduce profitability, or even lead to failure of establishing presence in certain markets despite significant investments, leading to unexpected losses and a negative impact on the Group's profitability.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risks materialising wholly or partially to be medium. If the above risks were to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be medium.

Currency fluctuations

The Issuer's revenues are deriving from several currencies, the largest being EUR, GBP, SEK, NOK, DKK, NZD, and USD. Operating expenses are mainly split between EUR, DKK, NOK and USD. Exchange rates affecting the Issuer are mainly fluctuations in the DKK and NOK rate against EUR and the USD / EUR rate. In addition, fluctuations in the SEK / EUR rate will impact the bond which is denominated in SEK. Exchange rate fluctuations affect the Issuer in three main areas: 1) corporate payments in different currencies increase transaction risks; 2) receivables and debt in foreign currencies increase exchange rate differences when accounted in EUR and 3) the translation of shareholders' equity into EUR carries transaction differences that affect the consolidated shareholders' equity. To date, the Issuer has not used risk management techniques or "hedged" the risks associated with fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates. However, should a significant fluctuation occur, the absence of any hedging could result in lower revenues from an entity with an impacted currency.

Such major fluctuations are rare, and the Issuer considers the probability of the above risk materialising wholly or partially to be low. If the above risks were to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be medium.

The Group is dependent on key customers and partners

The Group's strategy in certain markets is to provide the technical platform, other technology and supporting functions/services to a certain brand in exchange for exclusivity. There is a strong degree of dependency in this respect and loss of one or more such customers and/or partners could have a negative impact on the financial performance of the Group.

In addition, identifying and signing new, relevant customers is critical to the Issuer's growth and the failure to do so could prove detrimental to the Issuer's growth prospects. A related risk is the risk of not being able to retain existing customers of the Issuer upon expiration of the underlying agreement. The loss of existing customers in any segment or business vertical could have an immediate negative impact on the Group as a whole, its ability to generate revenue, maintain profitability and therefore meet its obligations under the terms of the Bonds.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risk materialising wholly or partially to be low. If the above risk was to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be medium.

Legal and regulatory risk

Risks related to the regulation of the gambling industry

The regulation of online gambling may be subject to changes which could impact the Issuer's financial performance and could be split between (i) regulatory risks due to changing legislation and (ii) risks associated with more stringent regulatory conditions dealing with the prevention of money laundering, responsible gambling, marketing and the overall expectation of social responsibility.

In respect of item (i), the Issuer is active in the online gambling market, which is subject to extensive regulation in many countries. Regulatory decisions and changes in legislation may impact the Issuer's operations and the possibility to provide or market its services in specific countries. In some cases, the regulatory conditions or technical requirements of a market make it very cumbersome to enter that market and in addition, some countries adopt stringent advertising restrictions which make it challenging to advertise and promote gambling products and services, especially for brands such as those of the Issuer which are reliant on advertising and other promotional activities.

Regulatory decisions may also have an indirectly adverse effect by restricting customers' use of gambling websites, or by requiring financial institutions to prevent transactions between customers and gambling operators. This may involve having to close markets in which the Group operates but are no longer accessible under the licences which are currently held. In addition, this may involve new markets which are being regulated, in relation to which, the Group needs to be able to meet the technical requirements and other regulatory requirements, as well as the need to be able to operate in that market at a profit after taking into account increased costs of doing business in a regulated country.

In respect of item (ii), regulators in certain regulated markets have recently increased their supervisory activities, especially in the areas of social responsibility, anti-money laundering and marketing compliance. The Issuer has witnessed several competing operators active within the same markets and adopting common systems and procedures formerly prevalent within the industry become subject to sanctions due to regulatory failings. While the Issuer has been working closely with expert advisors in order to upgrade its systems and procedures to achieve compliance, given the standards, interpretation of the regulations and expectations of regulators, the Issuer cannot be certain it will not be subject to regulatory sanctions. The Issuer is subject to stringent laws and regulations regarding player protection. Failure to identify and support players showing signs of problem gambling is both a legal and reputational risk which could give rise to substantial costs, impact trust and eventually have a negative effect on the Issuer's financial performance. As a result of this increased emphasis, certain high value customers may be hard to retain either due to the Group's own risk management processes or otherwise that such customers turn away due to increased due diligence required on them which they may be unwilling to provide.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risk materialising wholly or partially to be medium. If the above risk were to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be medium.

Risks related to taxation

Online gambling is increasingly subject to local taxes not only in the countries where the Group's services are provided from, but also in the countries where the customers are located. Gambling taxes have often been introduced by EU member states in connection with the regulation of their online gambling markets. Typically, such gambling taxes are levied on gross gaming revenue (GGR), meaning the difference between the sum of stakes and other payments received to participate in gambling less amounts paid out as winnings. Tax rates vary among countries and products but have generally been in the region between 15 and 20 percent, but in some cases amount up to 40 percent of GGR. Some gambling services may also accrue value added tax in some countries. Unforeseen and adverse changes in tax regimes could result in negative effects on the profitability and could make provision of services to some countries unsustainable and jeopardize the Issuer's ability to serve those countries therefore reducing the Group's revenues.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risks materialising wholly or partially to be low. If the above risks were to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be medium.

Intellectual Property Rights (IPR)

The Issuer holds copyright and other intellectual property rights for software, its websites, webpages and related components. Certain employees within the Group and consultants employed within the Group, both on short, and long-term basis, have access to these rights and regularly contribute to the development of such rights. The Issuer believes that these employment contracts and consultancy agreements are sufficient in order to ensure that these rights are retained, maintained and protected within the Issuer. However, a failure to protect the Issuer's intellectual property rights could weaken its competitive position and result in a negative impact on its financial performance.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risk materialising wholly or partially to be low. If the above risk was to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be low.

Internal control risk

Risks related to IT systems

The Issuer is exposed to certain risks attributable to the Issuer's information technology ("IT") systems that are central to the business activities and the operation of the Issuer's proprietary technical platform. The Issuer's business is heavily reliant on advanced IT -systems, for example, to operate online games, analyse user data, revenue and payment optimisation and to process customer payments. This technology requires maintenance and supervision that also includes compliance with laws and regulations protecting personal data and demands imposed by third parties, such as credit card companies. The development and maintenance of this technology could require significant investments. The Issuer's IT platform offers a shared system for operational reporting, forecasts, personnel planning, CRM and comparisons of key ratios and monitoring. This platform is a key tool for the success of the Issuer's operations and cost management. In addition, the number of people visiting the Issuer's websites and the customer online gambling websites are using technical equipment other than desktop computers, such as smartphones and tablets, has increased in recent years and is expected to continue to increase. It is difficult to predict the challenges the Issuer may encounter in the development of technical solutions since new technological developments and new platforms are continuously being launched. If the Group was to be unsuccessful in these efforts, this could have a material adverse effect on the Group's operations, financial position or earnings.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risks materialising wholly or partially to be low. If the above risks were to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be medium.

Technological change and introduction of new solutions and services

The industries servicing the iGaming market are characterised by technological advances, changes in customer requirements and frequent new product introductions and enhancements. The Group's future success will depend mainly upon its ability to enhance its current solutions and customer offering and to develop and introduce new products and services that keep up with the pace of technological development in the market. Furthermore, it is essential to respond to the changes in customer requirements and to achieve continued market acceptance. Any failure to anticipate or respond adequately to technological development and customer requirements, or any significant delays in product or application development and introduction, could result in a loss of competitiveness and customers and therefore, revenues.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risk materialising wholly or partially to be low. If the above risk was to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be medium.

Dependence on management and key employees

The Issuer's success is driven by and is to a great extent dependent on its ability to recruit, train and retain key personnel such as the Board of Directors, the CEO, the management team and certain skilled specialist employees, particularly operational and technical personnel. Failure to hire key employees, integrate new talent, or to retain or sufficiently motivate its existing team, could negatively affect the Issuer's ability to successfully implement its business objectives and to meet its growth targets, which in turn could negatively affect future revenue generated within the Group and potentially even its ability to maintain existing profit margins.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risk materialising wholly or partially to be low. If the above risk was to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be low.

Risks related to the guarantors(s), the guarantee and the transaction security

Risks relating to the enforcement of the transaction security and value of collateral

Although the Bonds are secured obligations of the Issuer, there can be no assurance that the value of the assets securing the Bonds and the Issuer's other assets will be sufficient to cover all of the outstanding Bonds if the subsidiaries whose shares are pledged in favour of the Bondholders are subject to any foreclosure, dissolution, winding-up, liquidation, recapitalisation, administrative or other bankruptcy or insolvency proceedings, there is a significant risk that the shares in such subsidiaries will have limited value as the subsidiaries' obligations must first be satisfied, potentially leaving little or no remaining assets in the subsidiary for the bondholders. Furthermore, the security securing the Bonds may be significantly reduced by applicable laws and regulations limiting a company's ability to provide financial assistance under the applicable security documents and the security principles set forth in the intercreditor agreement which may not require due perfection of the security prior to/in connection with an enforcement scenario.

In addition to the above, the terms of the intercreditor agreement includes certain security principles for the granting of any new security in the future which may limit the requirement to grant security, for instance on the basis of a cost-benefit analysis or that such security would be in contradiction to applicable law. As a result of the aforementioned, certain security may not be granted or perfected or fall away and on that basis there is a risk that certain security contemplated under the Bond issue would not be available to the Security Agent (as agent for the Secured Parties, including the Bondholders) in an enforcement scenario and the lack of such security may have a material adverse effect on the security position of the Bondholders and any enforcement proceeds to be shared between the Secured Parties.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risks materialising wholly or partially to be medium. If the above risks were to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be high.

The Bonds are structurally subordinated to liabilities of the Issuer's subsidiaries

In the event of insolvency, liquidation or a similar event relating to one of the Issuer's subsidiaries, all creditors of such subsidiary will be entitled to payment in full out of the assets of such company before the Issuer which, in its capacity as a shareholder, will be entitled to payments after such creditors. The Issuer and its assets will not be protected from any actions by the creditors of a subsidiary, whether under bankruptcy law, by contract or otherwise. As a result, in the event of insolvency, liquidation or a similar event relating to one of the Issuer's subsidiaries, there is a significant risk that the Issuer will not receive any payment from the relevant subsidiary.

Furthermore, the Group operates in various jurisdictions and in the event of bankruptcy, insolvency, liquidation, dissolution, reorganisation or similar proceedings involving the Issuer or any of its subsidiaries, bankruptcy laws other than those of Malta could apply. The outcome of insolvency proceedings in foreign jurisdictions is difficult to predict and can therefore have a significant adverse effect on the potential recovery in such proceedings.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risks materialising wholly or partially to be medium. If the above risks were to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be high.

Applicable law and/or contracts may limit the amount each Guarantor may cover

On the date of this Prospectus, applicable law related to financial assistance in the United States of America and the Republic of Malta may limit the amounts that the Guarantors will be able to provide in order to meet their obligations towards the bondholders (represented by the Agent) under the Guarantee Agreement and the Guarantors may therefore not be able to guarantee the full amount outstanding under the terms of the Bonds. Furthermore, the terms of the intercreditor agreement include certain security principles for providing any new guarantee in the future which may limit the requirement to provide guarantees, for instance on the basis of a cost-benefit analysis or that such guarantee would be in contradiction to applicable law. In any such case, a bondholder's ability to claim against the Guarantors for a failure of the Issuer to meet its payment obligation under the Bonds may be reduced.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risk materialising wholly or partially to be medium. If the above risk was to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be medium.

Risks related to the nature of the securities

Risks related to the Issuer's dependency on its subsidiaries to make payments under the Bonds and refinancing risk

The ability of the Issuer to obtain refinancing is dependent on its financial position and the conditions in the debt and equity capital markets at the time such refinancing is required or desirable, including the exercise of an early redemption or in case of a put option following a Put Option Event. In the event the Issuer being unable to refinance the Bonds or other outstanding debt, or if such financing can only be obtained on unfavourable terms, this could have a significant adverse effect on the Issuer's ability to repay the principal of the Bonds at maturity or upon an early redemption.

Some of the Group's operating subsidiaries may be subject to restrictions on their ability to make distributions and loans including as a result of restrictive covenants in loan agreements, foreign exchange and other regulatory restrictions and agreements or associated undertakings. If the Issuer is unable to generate sufficient cash flow from operations or through distributions from its subsidiaries in the future to service its debt, it will be forced to adopt an alternative strategy that may include actions such as reducing or delaying capital expenditures, selling assets, restructuring or refinancing indebtedness or seeking equity capital. The Issuer cannot assure investors that any of these alternative strategies could be executed on satisfactory terms, if at all, or that they would yield sufficient funds to make required payments on or to repay the Bonds. Inability to execute such strategies may have a material adverse effect on the Issuer's business, results of operations, financial position and/or prospects.

The Issuer considers the probability of the above risks materialising wholly or partially to be low. If the above risks were to materialise, the Issuer considers the potential negative impact to be high.

Trends

The Group's consolidated revenues amounted to EUR 30.2 (37.3) million in the third quarter 2019, a decline of 19 percent mainly due to lower revenues within the B2C segment which was impacted by the challenging Swedish market and the termination of a customer contract in Q4 -18 affecting YoY comparison by EUR 4.5m and EUR 2.7m respectively. Gross profit margin for the third quarter 2019 was 78 percent (83 percent), the decline is mainly related to an increase in betting duties, mainly from Sweden and the payment of VAT in certain jurisdictions.

Net other income was EUR -1.5 (-2.6) million in the first nine months of 2019 and included EUR 1.5 (1.2) million in interest expense, and a net gain of EUR 0.7 million related to the Bond due to the change in the SEK/EUR exchange rate in the quarter.

The Board and the CEO have started a strategic review of the Group to identify value-creating opportunities, reduce complexity and improve efficiency within the business. The outcome of the review will work as a base for strategic planning and the future roadmap for the Group. Litigation

From time to time, the Company and the Guarantors are involved in litigation brought by previous employees or other persons. The Company and its legal counsel believe that these claims are without merit.

The Group has appealed a sanction decision against Zecure Gaming Limited for offering of one prohibited event to end consumers. Apart from the above, neither the Issuer, the Guarantors nor the Group is or has, during the previous twelve months, been a party to and is not aware of any governmental, legal or arbitration proceedings (including any such proceedings which are pending or threatened) which may have, or have had in the recent past, a significant effect on the Company's, the Guarantor's and/or the Group's financial position or profitability.
